E-Waste Solutions

Safe Collection

Our logistics and channels collect e-waste piles from your site and safely deposit them in our electrical waste management centers to initiate the process.

Segregation

The components are segregated from assemblies of e-waste into various categories such as plastics, glass, metals, wires, connectors, and other discrete units.

Dismantling

Our dismantling process follows removing parts and components from boards and the hardware components. Each component is examined and removed for reuse porpose

E-waste recycling

The other segregated components go through the refining and extraction process where metal is extracted, and this way, the components are disposed of safely
